In the matter of food you can't afford to sacrifice Quality for Cheapness. Economy is right and good but inferior food products are dear at any price.

Good-Bye.

I cannot let you go, Baby!
Oh, I cannot let you go.
In your bridal veil
And silks that trail—
Oh, I cannot let you go!
Come here, as we wait, my Baby
And lean against me—so!
And I'll hold you fast
This time the—last?
Oh, I cannot let you go!
Do you love him more, my little red rose
Whisper it to me low—
Than the kindest dad
That ever girl had?
Yes? Well—then be it so!
Are you crying, dear, in your wedding gown?
Those great drops surely will show,
There! Your bridesmaids wait
And we shall be late—
God bless you! as you go.
—Lawrence A. McLouth.

This, together with its absolute purity and digestibility, makes each bearing the initials of the maker. After this the hostess invited all to the hall, where hearts were hidden, not a word to be spoken on the finding until all had found the hearts. This was a surprise indeed. The little hearts were hand-painted by Miss Watson in little cupid, and bore:

Miss Mabel Claire Watson
Mr. A. Jay Sewell
July 26th, 1910.

The greatest mirth and surprise reigned. The second parlor was arranged beautifully; suspended over four grouped tables was a wedding bell, with cupid flying around it, and just beneath the bell a slipper. The hostess asked the honoree to step beneath the bell, that all might wish her well. The hostess pulled an unseen thread and the toe of the slipper fell with a shower of rice upon the head of the fair honoree, which was another surprise. A pretty book, all hand-painted, was brought forth and each guest wrote her best wishes for the bride. Delicious refreshments of cake and cream were served, and the dainty sewing from the Sewing Club presented the bride-to-be, who responded in beautiful words. The personnel of the happy party was the dear hostess, Mrs. Appell; the honoree, Miss Watson; Mrs. J. F. Watson, Mrs. Cad Williams, mother and sister of the bride, and Misses Helen Grant, Allee Patrick, Jewel Dubose, Marie Price, Mattie Cad and Willie Pearl Gardner, Jettie Word, Mary Mickle, Maude O'Flynn, Mason Haynes, Mesdames Robt. Abarnathy and Julius Pearlstone.

Spring Park Pleasures.

Miss Garnett Oment entertained Marie and Ruby Jenkins and a few of their friends at Spring Park Saturday afternoon. They assembled at the home of the hostess and all went in a crowd to the park. At 7 o'clock a lovely luncheon was spread under the trees. The following were in the party: Misses Marjorie and Mary Ballew, Dallis Taylor, Marguerite Hill, Eleanor Houseman and Mr. T. D. Allen of Houston.

Lawn Fete.

Mrs. Walker King entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. E. C. Nunnally, and niece, Miss Mary Robinson of Atlanta, Ga., inviting the friends who had called on these, her guests. The lawn was attractive for the occasion, being arranged in chairs, tables and tabourettes. Pink and white roses furnished the decorations, with ferns. On entering each guest was served delicious punch by Misses Grace Jewel Link and Lucile Campbell, stationed at an attractive spot. An informal, happy time was passed by all. John King was assisted by Bonner Sewell and little Elizabeth Link in serving delicious candy—sweets by the sweet. A delicious repast of cake and cream was served. The entertainment closed with the hostess inviting all indoors to inspect the beautiful new home, which is so bright and cheery.

The pretty apartments were charming in cut flowers and ferns. After all had arrived each was given a yard of linen crash and told to make something pretty of it. Colored thread was also given. The girls never dreamed for whom they were making the pretty things. Laundry bags, sofa pillow tops and towels were soon fashioned,

A Word From a Minister.

To the Herald.
Kindly permit space in your up-to-date paper for a few words to the christian public of this city.

In all great movements, grave difficulties, either real or imaginary, arise, and they must be fairly met and dealt with if the movement is successful.

In the interest of bringing to Palestine Dr. R. A. Torrey, who has been used of God to move heavenward England, Scotland, Wales and Australia, besides the large cities of America, and who is now being led to evangelize the smaller cities with the same spiritual power, and has offered to consider coming to this city, can it be possible that a christian man or woman in this city will attempt to thwart the effort that is soon to be made to make it possible for the coming of Dr. Torrey?

Every church in the city is reported to be doing and planning to do admirable things in connection with their own denominational work, and the money is expected to be forthcoming for all of these things. The ministers want all of their people to feel that they are in hearty sympathy with those who so cheerfully do the giving to all the work that is accomplished by the churches, and they personally and rightly decline to impose financial burdens upon any of their people; yet they recognize and agree that it is to the very best interest of the churches and of the city to have such a man as Dr. Torrey, with his successful co-workers, spend a month here, believing that its ultimate good will amount to far more than the extra expense of the meeting.

The financial difficulties will not be great if Dr. Torrey's suggestion is carried out, and that is, as many people as possible contribute from $1 to $10 who are not able to contribute more than one of those amounts. A minister was heard to tell a layman that there are two hundred men in his church alone in our city, and the layman suggested that if each of them would give on an average of $5 the financial proposition would be solved. Truly, the christian people of this city ought to be able to seize such a God-given opportunity, which Dr. Oehler suggested is an opportunity of a life-time, and it is believed they will do so by co-operating in every way possible with those who have been and are yet to be appointed to raise the necessary funds in order to build a suitable tabernacle and to meet the necessary expenses of such a meeting.

Respectfully,
A Local Minister.

The Herald printers for good work.
